

TRAVELING ALABAMA

By Jim Hart

Azalea Trail Festival

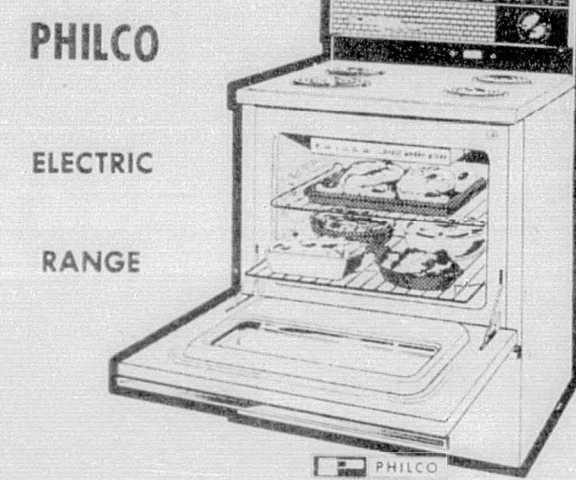

As winter gasps a waning cold breath at most sections of Alabama, Mobile is ushering in Spring with its traditional Azalea Trail Festival. Coupled with this breath-taking display of beautiful flowers and mild temperatures will be the 1964 America's Junior Miss Pageant.

The Azalea Trail Festival will continue through March 31 and the Junior Miss Pageant will be held during March 18-21. For those wishing to start their Spring travels early I can think of no better place to visit than Mobile, especially during the month of March.

I have driven along the entire 35 miles of this gorgeous floral route and it is, without a doubt, the most famous floral spectacle of its kind. The Azalea Trail Festival originated in 1951 with a three-week program. Now this celebration extends over a period of two months - February and March. However, with the extended cold weather I'm sure you will find a visit during March to be most rewarding.

An unusual feature of the Mobile Azalea Trail is the attraction known as the "Night-Lighted Trail". This route is lighted each night during the peak of the azalea season through the cooperation of civically minded Mobileans.

Several public gardens are featured along the Trail and they include Clarke Gardens, Long's Azalea and Camellia Gardens and Bellingham Gardens, one of the most famous gardens in America.

This is one of the many places in Alabama that you can really get away from it all and enjoy luxurious living on a small budget. No where else do I know of can one find such a variety of things to do and such hospitable people as in Baldwin County.

For the fisherman you can't beat it. For swimming, sunbathing and skiing Gulf State Park is tops. Here is a 4,807 acre paradise that belongs to everyone in Alabama. Classes as one of the most outstanding reservations of its kind.

Guides for salt water fishing may be obtained nearby and for those who are successful and want to cook their catch at the Park you'll find a picnic area with pavilion, picnic tables and barbecue pits.

Those who avail themselves of the opportunity to revel in beauty, which only nature can provide, will find Gulf State Park a most delightful spot for rest and relaxation with everything kept up and sparsely trained Park personnel.

Plan a weekend trip to Alabama's southernmost tip. It's easy to get there.

Follow Alabama 59 to a point 10 miles south of Foley then follow the directional arrows to the Park. I just know you'll enjoy it...my family did.

Bend Dedication

March 27 marked the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Horseshoe Bend on the Tallapoosa River and the dedication of a new Visitor's Center at the National Park located near Alexander City.

Many thousands of dollops have been spent at Horseshoe Bend National Park during the last two years to develop the spot into an exciting recreational and vacation wonderland. This is Alabama's first National Military Park and it was on the very same site that Andrew Jackson defeated Chief Menawa and his Upper Creek Indians on March 27, 1814.

The battle ended the reign of terror caused by the Creeks and also averted the massacre at Fort Mims (near Mobile). As a result of devastating defeat the 20 million acres of land now known as Alabama and Georgia were ceded to the white man.

Governor George Wallace and Congressman Albert Rains were principal speakers at the 2:00 p.m. dedication service. Others on the program were Park Superintendent Clarence L. Johnson; Robert Cox of the National Park Service; Thomas D. Russell, President of the Horseshoe Bend Battle Park Association; and Thomas W. Martin, Chairman of the Association's Board of Directors. The Maxwell Air Force Band provided music.

Not only is Horseshoe Bend National Park known for its historical significance but also for its beauty and convenience for camping.

4-H CLUB EVENTS

Goodman

The Goodman Elementary 4-H Club boys met on March 11. All officers, members, and a visitor, Clarence Strickland, State Coordinator, were present.

Two songs were led by the song leaders and an inspirational devotion was given by Charlie Wilson. The pledges to the 4-H Flag and the United States Flag were recited.

Mr. Thompson, assistant county agent, read charge of the program, presenting a demonstration on "Home Gardening". He showed interesting and helpful slides on his chosen subject.

Mr. Strickland made some interesting comments concerning 4-H Club work and the Goodman Club. The meeting was adjourned until the scheduled meeting in April.

RICHMOND FLOWERS

Attorney Richmond Flowers is still trying to attract attention but still falls completely. He did manage to get on the front page of one of the state's biggest daily papers this week with his complaint that he is being elbowed out of the election fight. He blames Senator Lister Hill and Senator John Sparkman as the reason and that their reason is because he is considering running against Sparkman in 1966. Flowers is supporting the pledged electors. I don't guess Attorney General Flowers has thought about it but from all I can learn he is just about the most unpopular man in state government and the pledged electors.

BOB INMAN, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. (Sonny) Inman has been awarded a $1,100.00 scholarship by the National Association of Broadcasters. Bob started his radio work at Elba's WELB in 1958, and before that had worked for three years at The Elba Clipper. He is presently a junior at the University of Alabama, studying radio and television.

The Harold Fellows Memorial scholarship, one of two awarded across the nation, was given to the 20 year old Inman based on grades, experience and recommendation. He was selected from 6,000 applicants and this is the first time a student from either the University of Alabama or from this state has ever received this scholarship.

Bobby, who has consistently been a Dean List student, is a member of Pi Kappa Phi, a social fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega, radio and television honorary society, Delta Upsilon, and Phi Eta Sigma. He is also a correspondent for United Press International in Tuscaloosa.

Wallace Continues To Fight

Governor George C. Wallace began his campaign in Indiana's May 5 presidential preference primary this week. Governor Wallace began his Democratic primary bid on Wednesday with a news conference and an interview for later broadcast over Butler University's campus radio station.

Wallace is hoping to do even better than he did in last week's Wisconsin primary. As in Wisconsin, he will be campaigning against a Democratic governor running as a "favorite son" stand-in for President Johnson.

Alabama Congressmen on opposite sides of the civil rights bill controversy expect Governor Wallace to run stronger in the Indiana presidential primary than in Wisconsin.

U. S. Rep. George Andrews, of Union Springs, said Monday in Washington, "I think Governor Wallace has a very good chance of carrying Indiana." Governor Wallace, who polled 25% of the votes in the April 7 Wisconsin balloting, opposes Governor Matthews Welsh, a favorite son, in the May 5 Indiana Primary.

MISS JAN FILLINGIM has been selected homecoming queen at New Brockton High School. Homecoming festivities will be an event of Saturday, April 18 at the New Brockton High School. Classes to be honored are the classes of 1927, '37, '47, '57 and the Senior Class of 1964. All former and present teachers will also be honored.

Homecoming will begin with a tea for the honorees from 2 until 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and a barbecue will follow immediately afterward and will continue from 4 until 7 p.m.

The homecoming ceremonies will be held in the high school gymnasium at 8 o'clock Saturday night. The evening performance will consist of a musical program, "Let's Sing the Old Songs," directed by Mrs. Max P. Hayes. The highlight of the night will be the crowning of the Homecoming Queen and the presentation of her attendant.

tors don't want it known that he is an associate of theirs. Flowers charges that the campaign directors of the pledged electors have purposefully kept him from playing a larger role in the campaign and with "They fear that I may make some personal political gains."

Flowers claims "I have done more to defend our rights than any man in the state," but no one seems to know just what he has done that did the state or himself any benefit. And it does not matter what Governor Wallace is for, Flowers is strongly against it. If Governor Wallace said black is black, Flowers would immediately dispute him and say that black is white. And as time goes on Flowers becomes more bitter toward Alabama's governor. He has yet to give Governor Wallace credit for anything that is good but accuses him of everything he does as being done the wrong way.

BIDDY STEW

Mack and I haven't had any money to argue about this week - the income tax man took care of that. But I thought several dozen eggs and that started it up again. He told the girls here at the office that before we eat up all those eggs there will be a batch of biddies hatched out and running around over the house. I told him that would be fine - we could have biddy stew.

"SECOND CHILDHOOD"

I guess I am back in my "second childhood." I wasn't exactly barefoot but might as well have been. I had on some pretend-to-be shoes and while enjoying the grandchildren at our home in Florala Saturday, I stumped my toe and split the end of my big toe open. In less than 30 minutes that toe looked like a blown-up balloon. Anyway I had to go barefoot for a couple of days until it decided to get back to its normal size and behave itself.

But even so, I enjoyed the children - that is until they started a war. For a while they played grown-ups wearing some old dresses, heels, piles of old jewelry, pocket books and hats. But finally that wasn't fun anymore and they started quarreling which ended up in fist fights. I was about ready to give them away before the day was over. But the next day we were all at the start over again. They had forgotten I was after them about quarreling and fighting. I had forgotten that they had made me so concerned about their welfare and if they would come through those battles alive.

INTERESTING TIME OF YEAR

This is an interesting time of the year for several reasons but one of the most colorful and enjoyable reasons are the birds. In our back yard at our Florida home we have many different kinds of birds and still roaming around is a lonesome robin. We wonder if he might have been injured and was left by the others when they flew away for northern areas.

Especially enjoyable is observing birds and learning the fascinating story of the lives, the loves and the most interesting families and why it is man's most useful ally.

Back to the robin. A young robin can eat 14 feet of earthworms every day, taking a worm or a piece of one at a time. We see the Humming-birds every summer. When they are courting, the lady sits on a twig while her knight flies over her backward and forward in a circle. Each time he passes her he swoops sharply coming as near her as possible.

Until lately we have had a covey of Bob-White's in our yard. They are hen-like birds and walk like chickens. They can build a nest on the ground so cleverly hidden that it cannot be found.

Another bird we enjoy is the woodpecker. I don't know what kind of woodpecker we have but he is a beautiful bird. And a knock-er. He travels up and down the side of a tree, clutches the side, bracing himself with his tail, then pounds with his head like a hammer, boring holes so that he can reach into the bark for brubs.

The bird we enjoy a lot, other than the mockingbird, is the cardinal or red bird, red from bill-tip to tail-tip with a handsome jet crown. The cardinal is a bird masterpiece. His form is perfect, his call is not excited in bird language and his song is as happy as the singer. He eats nothing he shouldn't and much that he should. Farmers like them because they eat the seeds that produce weeds and they let his grain alone. He is a lover and a tender father.

His mate also wears a crown and sings which is contrary to custom among the females of the bird, but she is not as brightly colored as 'his majesty'.

We have bluejays, but would rather they lived elsewhere. They are rightly named when called "jays." He is a boldascal that robs the nest of other birds. They are pretty and handsome but I can't forget they are apt to rob the nest of the other birds of their eggs and even their babies and I don't like them. They act as if they own the premises and chase other birds away from the food we put out for birds.

Roses Can Be Grown In South

The notion that roses cannot be grown in the South is not based on fact, but, largely, hearsay. "It's too hot in the Summer, not cold enough in the Winter" is one common reason given. Or the blame is laid on lack of heavy red clay. Actually the best period during the Winter is adequate and, so far as the red clay is concerned, it is not only necessary, but actually may be detrimental if drainage is poor.

For that matter a good, well-aerated, well-drained soil is very satisfactory for roses. Usually if the soil is heavy, it should be mixed with organic matter (peat, shavings, pine straw) and sand. Proper fertilization, adequate drainage, sufficient water and control of diseases and insects are the real factors in growing good roses.

Among the outstanding new roses are: Granada - scarlet, lemon yellow, with penetrating fragrance; Saratoga - pure white Florida with a rich and heady old damask rose scent; Crimson Duke - large, red, vigorous Hybrid Tea, created by the originator of "Peace"; Tropicana - orange-red; Royal Highness; Christian Dior; King's Ransom; Tiffany; Chrysler; Helen Traubel; and Sutter's Gold.

Survey To Aid Industry Develop Timber Markets

A survey to be conducted in Coffee County - as well as over the state - will collect information from timber owners that will aid industrial organizations, local and state chambers of commerce, and other agencies and organizations to develop new markets for Alabama's timber.

Coffee County Agent, Tom Casaday, said, "All large timber owners and a sample of small owners will be surveyed by mail to determine landowners' attitudes toward present market conditions. The amount and size of timber he has and his willingness to enter into a marketing agreement with a new and/or expanded market for his timber will also be determined." Casaday said.

A brief questionnaire will be mailed to timber owners beginning about April 20," the agent said. "Our present timber markets aren't geared to take care of our current needs," Casaday declared, and went on to say that, "Alabama is at present cutting only 60 per cent of its annual growth." He urged all landowners who receive a questionnaire to fill it out and return it as soon as possible. The agent stressed that individual information will be kept strictly confidential and that only county, area, and state totals would be released. He also said that the information was not in any way binding.

According to Casaday, the main advantage to landowners if new markets are established will be increased timber sales and higher stumpage prices. New jobs and increased income to the economy will also result," the agent added.

R SPACE AGE MEDICINE WILL EFFECT YOU

There are nearly as many physicians and medical researchers involved in the flight of an astronaut as there are engineers and technicians. The effect on the astronaut's body is studied very closely and the data collected is already being used in the development of new and more effective medicines.

Someday soon we will start to get these new medicines in our pharmacy and physicians will be writing prescriptions for them. When we see a spectacular space feat we know that it also represents a big step in the conquest of disease and the maintenance of good health.

COFFEE COUNTY FARM NEWS

COFFEE COUNTY DAIRYMEN talk feeding and record keeping with R. Sam Jones, Auburn University Extension Dairyman. Jones stressed temporary grazing and silage as two essentials in maintaining high production. Looking on left to right are: Roy Sims, President of the Coffee County Milk Producers Association; Billy Finlay of the Keyline Community; Jones, Extension Dairyman; and Lelon Weeks of Kingston, Route 1.

Farm NEWS

Have you had a close call with a lawn mower recently? Chances are you have even if it was only a near miss.

Last year one of my friends was mowing a round some small pine trees and as he was backing the power lawn mower up, his foot slipped and went under the edge of the mower. As a result, he suffered a real bad cut on his foot.

Children get hurt around a lawn mower too. It is a good idea to let the children play either inside the house or on the other side of the house when mowing your lawn. A lawn mower blade can pick up an object from the lawn and sling it at a person with great force.

A lot of people disconnect the spark plug wire before working on the mower or even when they are storing it between lawn cuttings. This keeps children and others from starting the mower accidentally.

At the present time, Coffee County livestock growers are getting low prices for cattle and hogs. To get the best gains with the least costs, it is important to control internal and external parasites and pests.

In next week's paper, we will give the latest recommendations on controlling these parasites and pests.

I have a letter from J. R. Hubbard, Extension Poultryman, Auburn University, which points out the importance of poultry income in Alabama.

He says that poultry is still our number one producer of cash farm income in the state. In 1963, commercial egg production increased about 17% and broiler production about 8%.

The outlook is for continued growth in broiler production, but the rate will be smaller. Egg production will continue to grow.

I mentioned these facts on poultry because our Coffee County poultry industry is growing rapidly. We have feed and hatchling concerns in the county which are doing a first-class job in promoting broiler and egg production.

We have had a lot of inquiries during the past few days on weed control in peanuts, cotton, and corn. In fact, there is a lot of interest in weed control this year.

It is hard to see every person who is planning to use chemical weed control because everybody is planning at about the same time. We have the very latest recommendations on weed control at our office in Enterprise. If you have lost the information we mailed to you several days ago, let us know and we will send you another copy by return mail.

Laws Protect Buyers Against Faulty Seed

Seed laws protect seed buyers from getting a "pig in a poke." According to County Agent, Tom Casaday, the Federal Seed Act passed by congress 35 years ago, requires truthful labeling of all seed packages. Truth-in-labeling protection rid consumers of guess-work by requiring the variety, the germination rate, purity, noxious weed content, and the origin of seed package.

State laws control the sale of seed within the state by maintaining certain standards for seed and preventing unlicensed merchants from selling weeds. State provisions for rigid sampling and inspection of all seed packages. Truth-and seeds to a minimum. Casaday says that although mislabeling and false advertising by seed firms is the exception rather than the rule, state and federal seed law enforcement officials stay on the lookout for violators.

Do not plant cotton in soil with a temperature less than 65 degrees. Cool soil retards germination and allows decay to kill the seed.

TRAVELING ALABAMA

By Jim Hart

Guntersville Caverns

Alabama is endowed with more natural beauty and scenic splendor than any other State east of the Mississippi and many of these exciting attractions are underground. Such is the case with Guntersville Caverns just off Highway 79 in Marshall County.

Only during recent years has anyone in Alabama actually realized the potential for developing our many caverns into tourist attractions. They have been here all these thousands of years developing their calcite formations in the shapes of animals, cakes, columns and other fantastic patterns. One of the inviting things about a cave such as Guntersville Caverns is that the mind can imagine these formations as being almost anything.

Another significant aspect of visiting Guntersville Caverns is the history associated with it. Prehistoric people of the Archaic Age, some 6,000 to 8,000 years ago, are known to have inhabited it. Numerous chipped points found at the site have been examined and used to prove the fact that humans once lived there.

During the Civil War salt petre ore was mined out of the Guntersville Caverns to make gunpowder. There are three places where this is visible. The cave was also the hideout of outlaw who used to pilfer and steal from people who lived in what is now the Guntersville area.

The tour at Guntersville Caverns is relatively short, only a quarter of a mile, but it is one of the most interesting you will ever walk. People have come from all over the country to see this well-lighted cavern.

As you begin the tour you pass majestic entrance columns, shelves of white and brown oxys and are led into the history of the caverns.

"We do have the time and increasing convenience of the first two-door refrigerator built today, our Kelvinator Trimwell. It's 17 1/2 inches deep, has twice the size of a standard refrigerator and it fits the same iron space."

Kelvinator's new-type cabinet construction gives us safer load-bearing at a lower operating cost because of the efficiency of the new design. This new construction is also designed to provide greater strength and rigidity, truly this cabinet was built to last a lifetime."

ticular that has attracted thousands is the Natural Bible Scene of Joseph and Mary. The formations are so distinct that many have thought they were carved out by a sculptor.

A more recent discovery at Guntersville Caverns are the delightful creatures called "whorlshells". These are natural formations which look like people, animals, and modernistic sculpture.

If you are interested in visiting a truly exciting and different place we would suggest Guntersville Caverns. There is a camping area available plus swimming, boating and fishing. Take along lunch and use the free picnic tables and free parking too. Oh, by the way, don't forget the camera. How to get there? Travel along Highway 79 nine miles south of Guntersville and you'll see the signs.

INCOME TAX BLUES & A SORRY PRESIDENT

I'm in no humor to write a column this week. After the income tax man got through with me last Wednesday I have been mad ever since. I put off that sending off that report and what they said I owed the government until the last minute. I guess I thought some miracle would happen and I wouldn't have to send it. But nothing did that was in my favor when it came to that tax I always resent having to pay. I always have more than $600 exemption before having to start paying.

And when I think about the money I send to the income tax division being used for things I am bitterly against, I get even more resentful. I'm trying to look to the better side of things and be thankful that I am physically able to work and make the money to keep up a sorry president and other good-for-nothing fixtures in Washington. And I'm trying to console myself that after it is out of my hands, I will not burn in torment for it being used unwisely. But the last day and last minute for mailing the income tax money is still too fresh for me to be very much "consolidated."

BEES SWARM ALWAYS AT PRESS TIME ON WEDNESDAYS

Everyone at these two newspaper shops have become mightily interested in bees and honey. You remember I mentioned about seeing my first swarm of bees several weeks ago. We attempted to get them in a box made especially for bees but just about the time we thought we had them ready to cage they took off like a big cloud and that was the last of that spree of "bee catching."

This week another swarm formed in a large holly tree in the back yard and we were successful in housing those. That is, Fern did with Larry standing off several feet for fear they would cover him in strings. Fern got them in the bee house with bees sitting around on his ears and hands. He had on a hat and head was protected. He got one stung on the thumb when he accidentally smashed a bee. They will not sting so long as you don't fight at them or crush them. I'm a little afraid they will think I am going to crush them and sting in advance.

Larry claimed that he was afraid they would sit down to rest on his bald head. Guess that is as good an excuse as any.
